Meghan Markle and Kate Middleton, the Duchess of Sussex and the Duchess of Cambridge, always look pristine when out and about in public.

With the best makeup artists, hair salons and skincare at their disposal, it's no wonder they look as good as they do everyday.

And it appears all that healthy living and skincare is going to pay off for the Duchesses as new facial ageing technology developed by Harley Street surgeon Dr. De Silva shows what the royals will look like by the time they hit their 60s.

Using the technology, Dr. De Silva predicted what Meghan Markle will look like at the age of 62.

The prediction shows the Duchess, still beautiful, but with grey in her hair and lines on her face.

The Doctor says: “Meghan fares by far the best of the people tested.
