More than a star, a divinity: Robert Pattinson, according to the aesthetic-mathematical canons of the ancient Greeks, has a face that borders on perfection. And he is therefore the most beautiful man in the world in the top ten ranking drawn up by cosmetic surgeon Julian De Silva. Do you agree?

If he was engaged to Bella Hadid, elected the most perfect woman in the world last year, they would truly be the most beautiful couple in the world. Literally. Instead, Robert Pattinson seems to be single at the moment. Single and charming. Indeed, the most fascinated on the planet according to what appeared on the Instagram feed of the cosmetic surgeon Julian De Silva and then reported in the Daily Mail. The doctor established the primacy of the Twilight star based on the Golden Ratio of Beauty Phi, the so-called golden section, mathematical equation conceived by the ancient Greeks in an attempt to measure beauty, the same algorithm then used by Leonardo and the Renaissance artists to map their masterpieces.
